

Faculty :	Faculty of Liberal Arts (Rangsit Campus)
Program :	Hispanic and Latin American Studies
Level :	Bachelor

Semester 1/2026
Course Code	Course	Credits	Course Description or link to Course Description
SP388	The Amazon and Indigenismo	3	History of the Amazon from the perspectives of the indigenous peoples, with an emphasis on the Amazonian societies before the European invasion, the genocide in the 16th century, the resistance to colonization, and the constitution of an indigenous environmentalism in the 21st century.

Semester 2/2026
Course Code	Course	Credits	Course Description or link to Course Description
SP 285	Introduction to Brazilian Studies	3	The major themes of Brazilian history and culture from the perspectives of historians, sociologists, writers, poets, and musicians to comprehend Brazilian identities.
SP287	Popular Culture in Brazil	3	Brazilian popular culture in various aspects such as music, film, television, literature art, and sport; comparisons of cultural differences between Brazil and Thailand.
SP488	Political, Economic, and Cultural Integration of South America	3	Cultural, economic and political integration between South American countries focusing on major issues such as the idea of Patria Grande, Brazil's isolation from the Hispanic countries, the border wars, the construction of Itaipu Dam on the Triple Frontier, up to the establishment of Mercosur.